

Request for Information (RFI) to Inform the National Plan to Address Alzheimer's Disease

The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) invites public input to help inform a comprehensive update to the National Plan to Address Alzheimer's Disease, the nation's strategic framework for accelerating scientific progress and improving support for people living with Alzheimer's disease and Alzheimer's disease-related dementias (AD/ADRD), their families, caregivers, and care partners. HHS is updating the National Plan to guide federal efforts through 2035 and invites public comment to help inform future goals and priorities.

HHS welcomes comments on topics including:

- Advancing AD/ADRD research and the development of interventions to prevent and treat dementia
- Risk reduction strategies
- Early detection and diagnostic tools and pathways to treatment
- Enhanced care, services, and supports for people living with dementia and their families, caregivers, and care partners
- Gaps, emerging priorities, and opportunities to strengthen coordination across federal, state, Tribal, local, private sector, and community partners

Comments are encouraged from people living with AD/ADRD, family members, caregivers and care partners, researchers, clinicians, service providers, advocates, policymakers, and other interested stakeholders.

The public comment period is open through August 15, 2026.

To review the RFI and submit comments, please visit:

<https://www.regulations.gov/document/HHS-ASPE-2026-0298-0001>

To learn more about the National Plan to Address Alzheimer's Disease, please visit:

<https://aspe.hhs.gov/collaborations-committees-advisory-groups/napa/napa-documents/napa-national-plan>

Public input is critical to helping shape the future direction of the National Plan and ensuring it reflects the experiences, needs, and priorities of people living with dementia, their families, caregivers, care partners, and the communities and professionals who support them.