Bill Gates's Work on Alzheimer's

- ▶ In May, the Advisory Council received a letter from Bill Gates expressing his interest in the Council's work and his intent to work on ways to improve data sharing and scientific collaboration on future treatments
- ▶ July 17: Announcement of the Diagnostics Accelerator, a project of the Alzheimer's Drug Discovery Foundation (ADDF), which aims to advance bold ideas for earlier and better diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease
 - Partners include Leonard Lauder, the Dolby family, the Charles and Helen Schwab Foundation, and others
- ▶ We have expressed an interest to have him address the Council at a future meeting once we have a clearer agenda
