PTAC Member Disclosures on the The “Medical Neighborhood” Advanced Alternative Payment Model (AAPM) (Revised Version) Proposal

Members of the Physician-Focused Payment Model Technical Advisory Committee (PTAC) make disclosures on proposals in accordance with the Committee’s bylaws (revised October 4, 2019). Disclosures assist members with recusal determinations. Having a disclosure does not necessarily mean that a member has a conflict of interest or inability to remain impartial. The following disclosures relate to The “Medical Neighborhood” Advanced Alternative Payment Model (AAPM) (Revised Version) proposal submitted by the American College of Physicians (ACP) and the National Committee for Quality Assurance (NCQA).

PTAC Member Disclosures
Committee member	Disclosed Information
Jeffrey Bailet	Nothing to disclose.
Paul N. Casale	Nothing to disclose.
Jay S. Feldstein	Nothing to disclose.
Lauran Hardin	Nothing to disclose.
Joshua Liao	I currently serve on several national ACP committees, including those related to medical quality, coding and payment policy. While I did not participate specifically in the creation or submission of this PFPM and there are no financial conflicts of interest, a reasonable individual would view my committee involvement with ACP, and corresponding discussions about alternative payment models, as an inability to remain impartial. I recuse myself from the review, deliberation, and voting of this proposal.
Kavita Patel	I am a dues paying member of the American College of Physicians but outside of PTAC have not reviewed this proposal. I have also done work with NCQA over the years, but not on this proposal.
Angelo Sinopoli	Nothing to disclose.
Bruce Steinwald	Nothing to disclose.
Grace Terrell	I am a fellow of the American College of Physicians, pay dues annually, and participate in their continuous medical education opportunities. I was the first NCQA level three patient centered medical home in North Carolina in 2007. In 2015, I spoke at the NCQA Quality Talks conference (for no remuneration other than travel and lodging).
Jennifer Wiler	Nothing to disclose.
