During 2016, I assisted the American College of Allergy, Asthma, and Immunology (ACAAI) to develop an alternative payment model concept for asthma, a version of which will likely be submitted to PTAC at some point during 2017. However, I will not benefit in any way, financially or otherwise, based on whether a PFPM from ACAAI is recommended by the PTAC. Moreover, I do not believe that my work with ACAAI would be directly or significantly benefited or harmed based on whether the PFPM was recommended by the PTAC, nor will my involvement with ACAAI affect my objectivity in evaluating the PFPM proposal from Pulmonary Medicine Associates. Harold Miller
